We're happy to offer you the new Stephen Briggs (/-stephen-briggs.html) concept ambient release with the usual shoegazish taste, out for the Netlabel Day 2016 special event.

In "Hypnotique" (/-stephen-briggs-hypnotique-scm-1608.html), the vast landscapes we were used to, here enlarge their borders, thanx to the artist's skill in depicting sonic panoramas with his guitar, effects and looping.

Yan Terrien (/yan-terrien.html) comes back with this second release on Sucu Music talking about the suspended atmosphere of hospital corridors.

"Music For Corridors" (/yan-terrien-music-for-corridors-scm-1607.html) magnificently renders that sense of waiting.

Each track infact shows the multifaceted aspects of a waiting in a hospital corridor, whether it is you waiting for your own fate or one of your loved ones is.

An explosion of "Soliloquy" from the WHYNOLF volcano

This abstract electronic release comes out from the mental volcano of the young italian producer Edoardo Costa, who puts in the "Whynolf" (/whynolf.html) project his crazy sonic soliloquies. The album traces an ideal line between his noise and distortion era and a "more musical" approach. Don't you have any expectation of melodies or anything of what you're used to calling "song" here, you will rather be hit by a mass of sounds and frequencies punched, pinched, stretched, morphed like clay in the hands of a schizoid sculptor. It's pure electronic experimentation pushed to the limits.

Clouds Formations (/marcel-rocha-clouds-formations-scm-1604.html) is a concept release coming from the brazilian brilliant musician and guitarist Marcel Rocha (/marcel-rocha.html). The artist, with his fine guitar mastery, explores that enchanted part of the sky where clouds form, giving body to our visions and emotions. It is a rich sonic journey through the amazing world of "haze and vapours" that flows onward, everchanging like clouds drawing in the sky on and on and on... From sparse melodies to harmonic atmospheres, from spontaneous phrases to complex notes mazes, Marcel leads us by the hand into his personal multiform land.

The new MANB release on SucuMusic, OUT NOW!

"Dialogue Alone (/-manb-dialogue-alone-scm-1603.html)" is the second Manb (/-manb.html) offering at Sucumusic.

The so called "art-quantum" concept manifested in his previous music, here continues its course in a series of tracks where improvisation is still the major Ermanno's approach.

Textures of sounds and synths are less broken, here. The time quantum is scanned by the minimal rhythm interventions and variations.

This release, like all Manb's music, has a natural vocation to cinematic purposes. You can easily imagine still poses that slowly mutate from A to B in a non linear, imperceptible and unpredictable path.

Quoting David Byrne, at the end of the journey, "you may find yourself" asking

"where did I get there?"
